

Contemplation

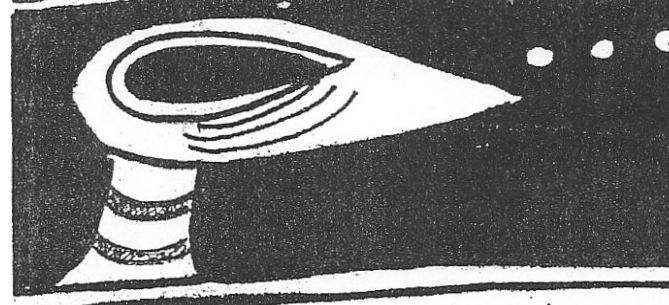

by Sue E. Armstrong

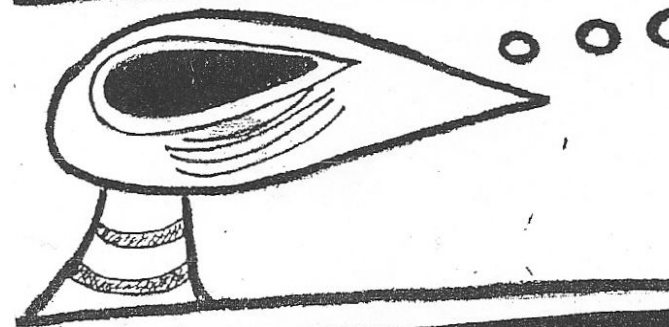

It's hard being a woman in this sexist society.

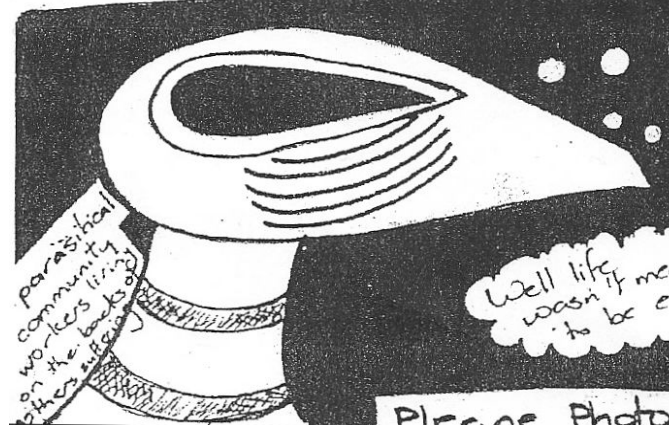

It's very hard being an intelligent woman in this society.

It is extremely hard being an intelligent woman with a psychiatric disability in this society.

It's impossible being an intelligent woman with a psychiatric disability with radical politics in this society.

It's more than impossible being a talented, creative, innovative intelligent woman with a psy. disability with radical politics in a society full of small minded, petty, jealous, careerist opportunist borco!!!

Well life wasn't meant to be easy

para's heal
community
workers living
other suffering
